Making the Most of the 20 Minute Rule

… or what to do when you run into a programming error!

A. Read the error

B. Find the file that contains the error

C. Determine which line the error is on

D. Research the error

E. Interpret the error

- On average it will take you 20 minutes to solve your own problem using the above strategy.
- With experience you will be able to apply this strategy in under 5 minutes.